

The stretch mark cure

What is it? The Strawberry Laser, the first-ever treatment that claims to effectively reduce the look and feel of silver – as well as red – stretch marks by up to 70 per cent.

What's involved? Treatment is pain-free and normally takes about an hour. Pads are strapped onto your body around your stretch marks before you get lasered.

What can you expect? After a course of six to eight sessions, the appearance of stretch marks should be reduced, plus they should feel a lot smoother, too. Visit strawberry-laser.com.
